Ego Rodriguez is a Spanish Illustrator, fascinated with the macabre, the uncommon and anything slightly left-of-centre.

He was born in windswept Asturias, but has lived in London for the most part of the last 18 years.
Rather than art schools, his artistic family and artistic surroundings were the major impact and learning structure in his life.

Inspirations coming from artist like Von Struck, Klimt and Schiele, Erté, Gruau and Stefano Canulli.

a man with a view

Who Owns The Image?

When we look at a picture of someone, we naturally see and remember the person.

Our impression or sense of them comes from the image, whereas it may be the skill and art of the photographer that creates that.

Are we in control of our image? The photographer can choose how the image gets to the world. But also, if a commissioned piece, so too does the subject or patron.

And, as we know from the tabloid press and paparazzi, although images taken in public are fair game for the photographer to own, ultimately the public feel they own them too. The internet has made all images viral.

Who owns these pictures? Who is the person in them? You are seeing it, the memory of the image is now yours too.

Just Me?

I learn about love
each time I fall
man by man

though words are said each time has shown
actions reveal true
feelings

what is love
really
other than elusive

Is it just me or do you find
it's the same for you?

Dilemma

spinning, giddy, intoxicating between the clouds and earth wanting to stop, secure needing to go on, alive

stable and familiar or wild and exciting.

and if i stop
i fall and crash

yet if i don't i may lose control

which is me?
can't i have both?

I was raised in a suburban middle class catholic world in Sydney Australia. Family, friends, school, where I look back and see there was very little real passion.

I studied art, and loved it, but the system inflexibly dictated, I could only do science or art. Nor was I encouraged with art at home, and I didn't believe I had much talent. It was a career with a stable job that was valued.

But after a degree in engineering, decades of work and 20 years of marriage, I realised I was rotting if I did not embrace life, find and explore passion.

In 2010, I came out, left home and began. Travel, art, shows, and foremost men. And I took up a camera and tried to capture and keep alive the journey.

I love men, and have found that passion in love. Although the male body is beautiful and erotic, sensual and exciting, it is love and emotion that comes with it that is sublime.

I am an amateur photographer, I still have my career, I don't feel the need to make a living from my passion. In some ways that liberates me, allowing me to explore. Which I feel privileged to be able to share with any who are interested.

What Lies Between

once was, lover
you told me
your thoughts and feelings your hopes and wants intimacy and passion

the touch
fingers through hair
skin over muscle
tongue on lips
hot breath on skin
tight squeeze of nipples then in
kiss till no breath
pressing hard and deep driving away all senses filling my body and mind aquiver and vocal
with absolute ecstasy

remind me, untiring whenever we're apart
for
what lies between
when we lie together
is what we are

Pirate of Love

on-line
adrift in a sea
of handsome faces
and muscular torsos
luscious, tempting, desiring i want and succumb
to reach out
engage in the passion
the thrill of life

my opening salvo
sometimes finds a mark
and we parry, briefly
till the currents and winds take us our ways

but this time
i am hit hard
his reply blows
the wind from my sails
his next takes down
my spars and masts
i am stranded
unable to flee
trying to match his aim for he is shooting
for the heart
abreast he comes his hooks firmly catch
he takes me as his prize as I sink slowly
lost and drowning
in love

The Next Chapter

He paused for a moment lingering
as he turned the page thinking
what does the word mean
"Lover"

a past, the present,
promise of a future
emotions and feelings
hot and flowing
like a shower
seeping to the core
unable to stay
but always there
to return for more
each time indulgent
intimate

He looked back to the page poised
at the new chapter
ready
if he dared to read.
He began....
